

Did you know? Google is partnering with Safaricom and Equity Bank ... <http://www.designab.com/kenya/postcards/33/postcards-from-kenya-...>

Can't see any image? Click to view online

Did you know?

Google is partnering with Safaricom and Equity Bank to bring Kenya's small businesses online.

- The Getting Kenyan Businesses Online (GKBO) project provides information and an online template for small and medium scale enterprise businesses (SMEs) to create their own websites for free.
- With 10.2 million Internet users in Kenya, Google Kenya Country Manager Olga Arara-Kimani said the initiative will transform the online SME business landscape and make a positive impact on the economy.
- The GKBO website is mobile and desktop compatible, allowing SMEs to personally manage their sites and update business information in real time.

Source: IT News Africa

To learn more about Kenya visit www.kenya.info

FACEBOOK

TWITTER

8

This material is distributed by Chlopak, Leonard, Schechter & Associates on behalf of the Office of the President of the Republic of Kenya. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

NSD/CES/REGISTRATION
UNIT
2011 SEP 21 PM 12:03

Did you know? Kenyans are using the country's revolutionary mobile...

<https://arto.createsend.com/t/ViewEmailInIFrame/r/661F1E183462...>

Can't see any image? Click to view online

Kenyans are using the country's revolutionary mobile phone banking service to contribute to drought-relief efforts.

- Kenyans are using M-Pesa, a mobile phone banking service, to donate money to Kenyan drought-relief efforts.
- Originally developed as a mobile banking service to allow users to instantly transfer money between phones anywhere in Kenya, M-Pesa is now also being used as a means of fundraising during a time of crisis.
- Bob Collymore, head of Kenyan telecommunications company Safaricom, said that in the early stages of fundraising efforts, more than 86 percent of individual donations came through M-Pesa and totaled $1.7 million. The money is sent to the Red Cross and used to purchase food aid for Kenyans affected by the drought.

Source: USA Today

To learn more about Kenya
visit www.kenya.info

Did you know? Kenyans are using the country's revolutionary mobile...

<https://arto.createsend.com/t/ViewEmailInIFrame/r/661F1E183462...>

â

This material is distributed by Chlopak, Leonerd, Schechter & Associates on behalf of the Office of the President of the Republic of Kenya. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

This email was sent to [email address suppressed]. If you are no longer interested you can unsubscribe instantly.

